This infographic is a subtle gesture from the NAI that marks the International Women’s Day 2018. The ladies included on the list are all true beacons of light. Some are accomplished and seasoned marketers, others are rising stars. What they all have in common, though, is that they collectively make the global native advertising industry sparkle.